

Introduction

At the end of 2016, the Company's funds raised at the time of the IPO were fully deployed, with the exception of approximately 10% of the book value reserved in cash for collateral and working capital purposes.

Overall, the risk exposure of the Company was kept low going into the US Presidential elections, which has served the Company well. Emerging markets had a challenging time with the global emerging markets equity ETF (EEM US) down 5.73% and the emerging markets corporate bond ETF (CEMB US) down 3.14% from the time of the IPO in August 2016 until year-end. Emerging market currencies in general during this period were caught up in the updraft of the US Dollar and posted significant losses as a result.

Despite the modest risk positioning, the Company is on track to meet its target annual dividend yield of 6% (based on the issue price) and has declared its first quarterly dividend for the Company's first quarter to 31 December 2016.

Liquid Markets Portfolio

As at the end of 2016, the Company's top 10 equity holdings in the liquid markets portfolio were:

Equity Exposure: Top 10 Holdings (% of book value)

iPATH S&P 500 VIX Short-Term Futures ETN	9.0%
Russian Depository Index USD	5.7%
iShares MSCI Emerging Markets ETF	5.5%
iShares MSCI India ETF	4.2%
City of London Investment Group PLC	2.8%
Gazprom PJSC	1.6%
Vale SA	1.5%
Glencore PLC	1.3%
MMC Norilsk Nickel PJSC	1.1%
Rosneft Oil Co PJSC	0.9%

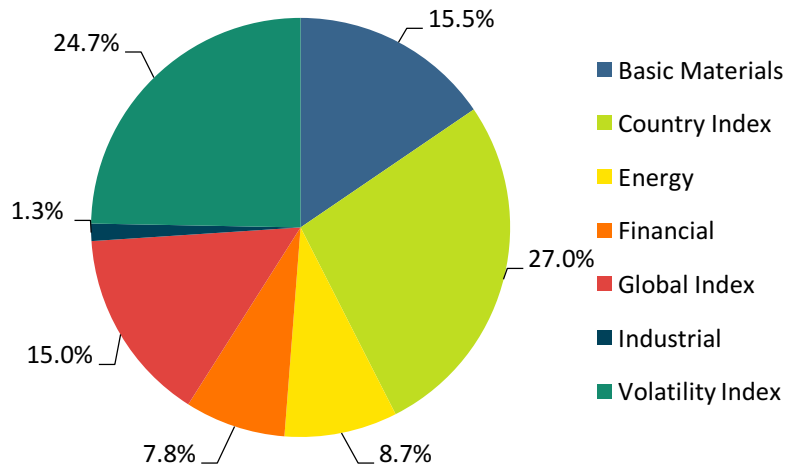

The Company's overall equity exposure is 36.6% of book value. The largest emerging markets equity positions are concentrated in Russia, India and Brazil. The driver behind the Russia exposure is a bullish view on commodities and a view that relations between Russia and the United States will gradually improve under the Trump Presidency. In India, APQ Global sees significant value after the demonetisation debacle. The Company believes that the effect of this event is petering out in early 2017 and fully reflected in current pricing. The Company also holds a view that Brazil will continue to politically and economically a the corner in 2017. The management team expect the Brazilian Central Bank will cut rates by 2.5% in 2017, to provide a boost to the currency and the equity markets. From a sector perspective, the bulk of the Company's exposure is in energy, industrials and financials, taking into account the sector composition of index exposure in Russia, India and global emerging markets.

Equity Exposure by Sector

The Company has maintained a large structural hedge through a long volatility position of 9% of the book value (using iPath S&P 500 VIX Short Term Futures, VXX US). While this has been costly following the US presidential elections, the Board believes it is a prudent position to hold going into 2017.

The Company's credit book has grown to 35% of the book value. The portfolio is well diversified and the largest position is Vimpelcom, accounting for 1.8% of book value.

Corporate Overview

APQ Global (Ticker: APQ LN) is an emerging markets growth company based in Guernsey. The Company successfully listed on the Channel Islands Stock Exchange and was admitted to trading on the London Stock Exchange's AIM Market with a market capitalization of ca. £80m in August 2016 ("Admission")

The Company's business strategy will be implemented through three core activities in emerging markets.

The Company will manage a liquid markets portfolio of bonds, equities and currencies with a focus on global emerging markets.

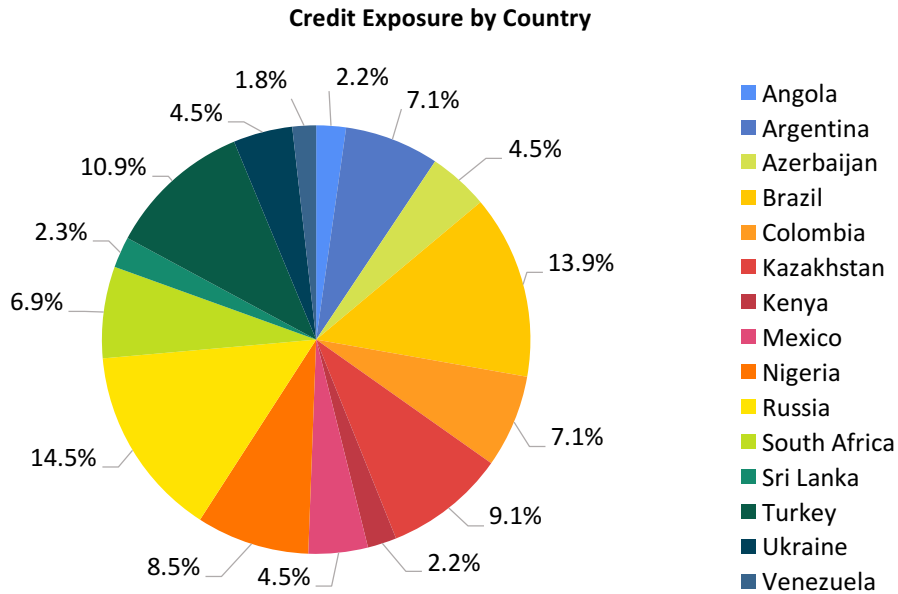

The Company will also build a portfolio of strategic stakes in emerging markets focused companies at an equity or debt level. In doing so, it aims to be a constructive stakeholder to the management of those companies within the context of a multi-year investment horizon.

The Company plans to, selectively, acquire management control in emerging markets focused companies with the aim of generating sustainable cash distributions and long-term growth for the Company's shareholders.

Geographically, the credit portfolio is also well diversified with the largest positions concentrated in Russia (14.5% of book value) and Brazil (13.9% of book value):

From a sector perspective, the credit exposure is concentrated in government entities, banks and corporations in the energy and materials sectors.

As at 31 December 2016, the Company has no meaningful direct currency exposure beyond the levels in its equity portfolio. For most of the last quarter, the Company has held a large and successful funding position in the Japanese Yen (representing 26% of book value) and has held a short position of 9.4% of book value in the Russian Ruble as a hedge against equity exposure in the country.

Strategic Investment Portfolio

The Company has successfully exited its position in Charlemagne Capital in December (which had represented 2.4% of book value), generating a ROI of around 40%.

In addition, the Company has increased its investment in City of London Investment Group ('CLIG') to a holding that represents 2.9% of book value, taking advantage of the recent share price weakness. We believe that the outlook for the emerging markets equity asset class, the prudent management and an attractive dividend yield bode well for the CLIG stock price.

The Company also holds 2.9% and 3.9% respectively in two publicly listed emerging markets debt funds (EMD US and EDD US). Both funds trade at appealing discounts and have high dividend yields in excess of 8%.

Direct Investment Portfolio

The Company is currently evaluating various business opportunities with a focus on emerging markets which are at various stages of due diligence and will update Shareholders in due course on its progress.
